MISS BURCH REPORTS D. A. R. CONVENTION

Miss Esther Burch, regent of Logan-Whitley chapter of this city, returned late last week from Louisville where she attended all the sessions of the 20th annual convention of the State Daughters of the American Revolution. All meetings and entertainments were held at the Seelbach Hotel. The conference was opened with all national and state officers on the platform, after a few strains of music, the salute to the flag was given, then the gavel fell and all were seated.

A splendid program was carried out, a number of excellent addresses were given, among them was Mr. Ballard Thruston's, Past President General, Sons of the Revolution. So splendid are his addresses that we asked him for a copy of one, "The Evolution of the Flag."

Mrs. E. G. Boone, of Paducah, the state regent, presided with unusual dignity, grace, ability and tact. She made friends of all present. She was re-elected state regent; Mrs. Shackelford, of Frankfort, was made vice regent, and Miss Blackburn, of Bowling Green was nominated for vice president general from Kentucky, to be acted upon by Continental congress in April.

Pledges were made to help clear the debt on Continental Memorial Hall at Washington, a magnificent structure owned by the Daughters of the American Revolution; also for educational work in illiterate mountain districts of Kentucky.

State, Chapter and Committee reports were most interesting. The Logan-Whitley Chapter of Stanford, although just a year old, had done more work than some others much older, but we must do much more. Members of our chapter are now serving on national and state committees, one of our number was made Mrs. Gore's appointee as she could not be present.

The social features of the conference were among the most brilliant in the history of Kentucky society, the papers say. They were indeed delightful. A reception by the Publicity League and one by the Sons of the American Revolution, and two lunches by the two Louisville Chapters, were the social functions enjoyed by all the Daughters. Among the guests from other states were: Mrs. Wilde, of Peoria, Ill., president of Daughters of 1812; Mrs. Maupin, vice-president general from Virginia; Mrs. Sorell, state regent from Virginia; Mrs. Squires, of Minnesota; and Mrs. Guernsey, of Kansas, candidates for president general of the national society. These and the state officers and visitors were most charming and it was indeed a wonderful privilege to have been there.—Contributed.

WILSON'S MARRIED LIFE

Response To Slanders Being Circulated Against Him

The New York Times secured for publication an intimate personal sketch of Woodrow Wilson, the man, written by Professor Stockton Axson, whose sister, Ellen Louise Axson, was the President's first wife. Professor Axson not only had close personal relations with the President for thirty-five years, but served under him when Mr. Wilson was president of the Princeton University. Following are a few extracts from Professor Axson's article relating to the home and marriage life:

"It is hard for me to speak in moderate terms of the beauty of the Wilsons' married life—that married life which I saw so intimately for more than twenty-five years. In the long years of his and my sister's life together, they were more completely one than any two people with whom I have been thrown into intimate contact. We often hear it said of a married pair—so often that it has become a sort of 'bromide'—A cross word never passed between that couple. I have been honestly trying to think if I ever heard anything approaching an altercation between Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, and I can not recall even a shadow of such. And yet these were no weaklings; but two spirited people, each with a power of conviction possible only to very strong characters. They would sometimes differ in their opinions, but their relationship was so rooted in mutual love and loyalty that their differences were casual and superficial, never fundamental. I have sometimes wondered how a family composed of varying and very positive elements ever contrived to live in such absolute and undisturbed harmony as did the Wilson family, and I come to the conclusion that such a result can be attained only in one way, by any prescription, or plan or domestic 'scheme' of action, but only enthralling love supreme—that where love is master, every day and every hour, there must be harmony. In the Wilson household love is always law."

"Only a few of us know what Woodrow Wilson was really undergoing in the summer and autumn of 1914, when the world was catching fire from war, and the foundations of his own life were crumbling under him. Just as the war opened my sister died, I can not help thinking," he said, "that perhaps she was taken so that she might be spared the spectacle of some awful calamity."

"I was at the White House a great deal that autumn and I know that it is no exaggerated use of words to say that he was the loneliest man in all the world. I can see the lonely figure of the President now, walking down the long hallway, the hair so much whitened in the few months. His intimate friends often expressed to me the wish that the President could marry again as he was so utterly desolate."

"We who know him feel that God himself must have directed the circumstances which brought Mrs. Galt into the White House circle. But for her we can only surmise what might have happened, for not even the strongest man in the world could bear up indefinitely under that dumb grief. Sunlight and grace radiate from Mrs. Galt. Her nature is big and generous and health-giving, and in that presence the President found new life, found that love without which he can not live. Their love for each other is perfect, and we all love her, both for what she has done for him and for herself, for to know her is to love her."

"She has entered this great career as simply, as unaffectedly, as unselfishly as Ellen Axson entered into the obscure career of a young lawyer who was abandoning law for a new and untried life of scholarship and teaching. To neither woman has condition, high or low, meant anything; to Woodrow Wilson has meant all."

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Dratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

Heard About Town

The New York Sun in a recent issue carried the following of interest to the many friends of Sam W. Menefee, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Menefee, of Stanford:

"Backfiring"

Sam W. Menefee, branch manager of the Anderson Electric Car Company, has appointed Robert Craighead manager of the Detroit Electric branch in Bridgeport, Conn. Before going into the electric field Craighead was the best Bible salesman in the world. He sold de luxe editions to some of the best families.

Before Craighead assumed his new duties, Menefee drew him to one side and said:

"Craighead, I had a dream about you the other night. I dreamed that I had reached the pearly gates when an attendant wanted to know why I thought I ought to enter. I promptly told him how I had tried to do good in the world and recalled a few of my kindly acts. Thereupon he looked into a big book, shook his head doubtfully and said:

"Yes, Menefee, you have done some good in the world, but these things you speak of are offset by one terrible thing. You persuaded the best Bible salesman in the world to give up this highly spiritual work to go into the automobile business. What have you to say about that? What are automobiles compared to Bibles in the final reckoning?"

"He had me stumped for a minute, Craighead, but I soon gathered my wits and replied: 'But you don't understand what I did for Bridgeport by putting Craighead there. Before he went to Bridgeport one could not find true happiness in many of the families. There was discord here and there because members of certain families did not know how to enjoy themselves in the open air. They couldn't find any one thing that all could thoroughly enjoy. But Craighead introduced them to the Detroit Electric and showed them how."

"A glance at the attendant convinced me I had won my point. He smiled as he opened the gate and said: 'You may enter. I was going to send you a long, long way from here. Although you did ruin the best Bible salesman I realize the great thing you did for Bridgeport. I have been worried about Bridgeport.'"

Miss Elizabeth Dye spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mary Dye.

Mrs. Wm. Trimble is spending a few days with her daughters, Mrs. George Dishon, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Martin Gooch, of Franklin, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dishon left Sunday for Iowa, where they will make their future home with their son, James Dishon.

Their many friends gathered at the station to bid them farewell with tearful eyes. We wish them success in their far away home and may their last days be their best.

Mrs. Ed. Rigney and children spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. George Horton here.

Miss Leona Francis returned to her home at Chicago, Ill., after spending several weeks with friends and relatives here and at Stanford.

John Gooch and bride spent a few days with the former's parents here.

Wedding bells have been ringing here since our last writing. Oliver Smith and Miss Eva Leach were joined in wedlock's holy bonds on Wednesday, Oct. 18. The bride is both popular and attractive and one of our finest young ladies, while the groom is a fine young man, being a teacher of the primary grade in the graded school here. Both are to be congratulated on the choice they made and we wish them a prosperous and happy life together.

Mrs. S. B. Marks and son went to Somerset shopping last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown, of Lexington visited their father, J. T. Brown and family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robin Rigney are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Dora Bastin at Eubank.

Does yours bring joy to the breakfast table?

North—East—South—West—women are solving the coffee problem.

Armies have solved it. "An army travels on its stomach" and of the army breakfast, ask any soldier what he would miss most.

One of the greatest American judges has said that unhappiness in the home commences with the first cup of poor coffee.

There is a coffee which brings a million men to breakfast "in a hurry."

Today you can introduce its rich, full flavor in your home. Serve Arbuckles' for a week and notice how much more his breakfast means to him. Bring joy to your breakfast table.

Today there are whole towns where Arbuckles is practically the only coffee used. In one State alone, in a year, four pounds of Arbuckles' Coffee was used for every man, woman and child in the State—four times as many pounds of coffee as the population of the State!

NEAL'S CREEK

Farmers are very busy shucking corn and stripping tobacco in our section.

Mr. Dink Farmer has sold his farm where he lives to his son, W. W. Farmer for $2,000. Mr. Farmer is building a nice house on his land near Hale's Well and will move there.

Everybody here, old and young are hallowing for Wilson, even to the game chickens are crowing Hurrah for Wilson!

Mrs. Nellie Goode and daughter, Estella and two sons, Melvin and Paul have returned from Danville where they have been the guests of her sister, Mrs. Durward Singleton. Mrs. Goode will visit her father, Mr. Dink Farmer before returning to her home in Indianapolis, Ind.

Miss Katherine Terry was in Danville shopping Tuesday.

Mrs. Durward Singleton, of Danville, was the guest of her father, Uncle Dink Farmer Monday and Tuesday.

The pie supper given at the school was a great success. A nice little sum of money was made, which will be used to buy books for the school. Mr. Bailey Sampson, who is teacher is certainly filling his position well.

Misses Margaret and Magoline Blackberry, of Green River, visited their sister, Mrs. W. W. Farmer Saturday night and attended the pie supper. J. C. Farmer was at Somerset last week to see a mighty pretty girl.

Misses Pearl Cook and Grace Young, of Highland, visited Misses Chloe and Effie Farmer Sunday.

There were lots of young people from Saffley and Highland at the pie supper Saturday night. We were glad to have them.

Mr. Jim Hutchinson has returned from Bobtown to be the guest of his son, Jean Hutchinson.

Mr. R. M. Raines was at Waynesburg Sunday the guest of Miss Elsie Singleton.

Miss Virgie Denham, of Green River, was the guest of her cousin, Miss Katherine Terry and attended the pie supper.

Mr. Will Farmer and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer, of New Albany, Ind., were the guests of their uncle, Dink Farmer last week.

Mrs. W. W. Farmer has been on the sick list, but her many friends will be glad to know that she is better.

Keeping Yourself Well

HOW YOU GET SICK

Sometimes you overload your stomach with rich foods. Your life may be an active one, and thus you may care for all you eat. But a few days of inactivity show your system does not call for so much. You awake in the morning tired. Your body feels heavy; you know you are not up to the mark. Your digestion has not cared for the overload. Part of it remains. It generates gas that inflames the delicate linings. They fail to pour out the digestive fluids and neglect to absorb the life-giving elements. You know something is wrong.

Your body gets weak, and soon opportunity is offered for some severe illness.

Taken in time, the indigestion would not become serious. First remove the overload; then soothe the sore membranes; then build up the weakened body. It's simple to say, but not too easy to do. You need help.

A tonic that will quicken digestion, help remove waste, soothe the soreness and arouse the system—that's just what you need.

Pertina has an enviable record in this respect. It has aided many thousands in the last century to overcome just these conditions, and thereby prevent serious sickness. The tablet form is convenient for regular administration.

Manual tablets are the ideal laxative and liver tonic. They have no unpleasant effects and form no habit. 200 and 1000 The Farnam Co. Columbus, O.
